

1/25/05

To Commissioners and Staff, FCC:

I am well satisfied with my current ISP, Sonic.Net I do not wish to see their access to broadband products for resale restricted.

The larger telecommunication entities that originate the products that my ISP partners/resells usually enjoy monopoly and/or privileged status in their region. Without some regulation, the larger telecommunication entities would be in the position of denying access to broadband products for resale or artificially inflating the prices of those products, making their resale unlikely.

Kim R. Moore